

MEN AND FAMILIES

MAKING HEALTHY CONNECTIONS

In Men's Health Week 2018, Australian communities and organisations are invited to put on events to promote the health of men and boys.

This year's theme "MEN AND FAMILIES: MAKING HEALTHY CONNECTIONS" explores the different ways families support the health and wellbeing of men and boys, and the positive contributions men and boys make to their families (of origin and choice).

The focus is on healthy connections and families - exploring what these can look like, and how men and boys can make and sustain positive family connections.

Celebrate Men's Health Week in 2018 and create an event in your community, workplace or organisation. Events can be any size, and can be fun, serious, or both.

Men's Health Week is your opportunity to make a positive difference in the lives of men and boys.
